TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 19. The Republican State convention today adopted a platform which proclaims:

"We reaffirm our devotion to the national policy of our party; our opposition to any attempt to impose upon the people of this State a currency and our firm belief in the wisdom and beneficence of a tax upon imports which will afford protection to American industries and bring adequate revenue."

It congratulated the people upon the magnificent results of the election in 1894 in favor of good government which committed the power of legislation to the hands of the Republican party and enumerated some of the great reforms effected in the State.

John W. Griggs was nominated for governor on the third ballot. He is an eminent lawyer of Paterson.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 19. The Herald will print to-morrow the following from the Daily News from Bordeaux dated today:

"The men of this town, proud of their comrades who take up the crew of the American ship, Defender, have planned to give a splendid reception on their return home—an event which will immediately follow the yacht's arrival at the harbor. The following two letters tell their own story:

DEAR SIR, Sept. 16.

Dear Sir: A number of the solid citizens of this town have organized under the title of the 'Defender Reception Committee' for the purpose of giving the men of the Defender a splendid reception on their return home.

Yours very truly,

Letter to the Crew.

DEAR SIR, Sept. 16.

To all members of the Defender crew who are still in the harbor:

Gentlemen: As far as possible we have followed you on every tack and we are glad to see you have a good seared slice on your left hand. We have not been able to learn of any of any lack of seamanship on your part.

We have heard of a wayward discipline and any absence of willingness and spirit to do your whole duty at all times and in all places.

We also expect any contrary report to be made regarding you. We were prayed that citizens of our town should be proud of you and that you should be proud of yourselves. We are proud of you and of the crew of the Defender.

When your duty is fully done, when your commander has given you an honorable discharge, we wish you all to come home and we earnestly request you all to come home together, to all land at one place.

We do not wish to dictate to you or to influence you as to where you will go, but we do wish to see you at the south part of the town—just at the point where you were discharged.

We know you have but one brass band and one piece of heavy artillery; hence we can make only one satisfactory demonstration at one time. If you will come together you will be the more gladly welcomed. After a noisy reception at which ever you may choose to stop, you may go to your homes or to your homes of peace. On about the second night after that you will be given a reception at the town hall with a large number of your friends and you are requested to choose one of your number to make answer to this communion as they may be able to send a telegram to us on the day before you will arrive home.

Per order of the general committee,

E. A. Richards, Secretary.

Corresponding Secretary.

coolly started off but Officer Hanks observing the theft soon had Little and the which were observed to be making for a

The Odd Fellows building at Ellsworth is practically completed. The contract calls for a construction by today. The work in front of the building is now being graded. The Odd Fellows expect to get in their new quarters before the end of October. A committee has been appointed to look after the furnishing of the new lodge room. The furniture now in use at the old hall is in good condition, but new carpets and other fittings will be purchased for the new room. As yet nothing definite has been done toward arranging for a dedication of the new building.

The Calais, Me., says: On unusual sight was to be seen at Hill, Pike & Co. what Monday morning, two of the old est vessels in the merchant service in the United States lying at one wharf. The Polly, built at Ambury Mass., in 1805, now owned in Rockland and commanded by Capt. Farland, and the schooner Harris, built at Biddeford, Me., in 1819, owned in Calais and commanded by Capt. Farland. The Polly is a fine vessel, with few vessels on coast of this kind, little over 60 feet long and of 45 tons burr, having captured an English brig off Castine during the war of 1812.

A story, which is just as good whether located in Rockland as elsewhere, is told by the Courier Gazette of a hasty country physician who is a great stickler for ventilation. He was called to attend a patient and found him in a small room, dark and close, and the doctor, without enough and field enough to sicken a well man, the physician opened the windows and fixing them just as he wanted them, left explicit directions to the people in charge to keep them open. Calling the next day he found them closed and the air again foul from lack of ventilation. The patient's boots lay at the foot of the bed, and the doctor picked them up and without a word threw them out at a window through the closed windows. "There," said he, "see if we can't have a little air here."

There was a large attendance of his relatives and friends at the funeral service of the late Mr. Edwin F. Atwell, of Orono, which took place at the family residence in that town yesterday afternoon, amid a profusion of choice and selected flowers. The reading of the scriptures and address was by Rev. Mr.
Cones, the pastor and grave yard sermons by Rev. Mr. Robinson, a former pastor of the church which the family attend, and the beautiful and impressive singing by the Apollo Quartette of this city. The bearers were his associates of the Selectmen, Messrs. D. Lambert and I. Spencer, with Messrs. A. J.
Durgin, H. M. Perkins, W. B. Heald and N. E. Blund. Hon. Samuel Libby had charge of the funeral and the burial was held in the family lot at the cemetery there where was most beautifully decorated with cut flowers and potted plants.

Corn cutting and evening closed Monday at the Foxcroft cannery with a pack of 270,000. A considerable quantity of the best picked and small ears is being hauled, string on wires, and hung up in the roof of the sheds to dry for other uses than packing. Operations at the cannery commenced August 24, and since that date, except Sunday, the hands have been employed on the inside of the buildings, and about an equal number on the outside under the sheds, hushing and taking account. Farmers on the average receive about $30 per acre for their corn, with the privilege of taking home this waste, such as husks and cobs. All the corn picked is of the "very best" quality, pump, white and clean, and the work of labeling and packing is done by hand, and the work is done about five times a day. The "working force" of the establishment of this industry there was a book to the farmers, laboring people and the community.

Very Cool Aut.
A very cool performance was witnessed at Boyd's fruit store Wednesday afternoon. A woman made a purchase
pile of silver in the store. In the store she forgot all else and left both on the counter. Another woman standing on the sidewalk saw it and she stood by the counter as though they were hers.
As the owner did not return in about half an hour the second woman took the pocketbook and a can went off. She
woman returned, but the pocketbook was of course missing. It is said that bystanders recognized the thief and she is likely to be in trouble. Mrs. Boyd supposed the second woman stole the bundle and pocketbook as she waited there so long, and the owner returned, when he realized the situation.

flowers. A lunch and informal reception followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs.
Maxey left on the 11:35 A. M. train for Cambridge, Mass., which will be their future home. Mr. Maxey is employed by the estate of J. L. Smith, Boston.

Miss Totie Peavey of Lincoln Centre, while riding her wheel in Portland at tempted to cross the tracks in front of a rapidly moving horse car. Her wheel slipped on the wet pavements and she fell to the ground directly in front of the horses. The driver with great presence of mind drew the horses about and put on the brakes but the car was heavily loaded and on the down grade the brake would not work quickly enough to save the woman. Mr. Warren Chase, of Naples, was standing on the platform with the driver and he sprang off and dragged the unconscious woman from the tracks just in season to save her from being run over. It was a narrow escape.

After a suspension of three weeks everything is in readiness to entertain the people of Dover and Foxcroft with light again, and it is devoutly hoped no further interruption will again enjoy for some time. The repairs at the lighting station at East Dover were completed this week, which consisted of the rebuilding of 120 feet of the frame together with the milldam adjoining, which has been partially replanked and made tight.
The entrance to the frame upon the opposite side of the frame, connecting with the milldam owned by Dr. Thompson, has also been strengthened by a new stonewall at considerable expense, while other improvements have been made about the premises. The water power has been greatly improved there and is now sufficient for all practical purposes for years to come.

Foot Ball Notes
W. H. Hennessey, who acted very efficiently last year as manager of the High School eleven has been re-elected for this year and Houghton has been chosen assistant manager. Correspondence will be immediately opened with Cony High School, of Augusta, Foxcroft Academy, Maine State College freshmen and Bowdoin freshmen for games.

On Saturday, Sept. 21st, the High School team will play the Waterville team in this city at Maplewood Park and a close contest is expected as Waterville is said to have the best team that has ever represented the school and it has been in training several weeks.

We have received from J. D. Glynn the Spaulding official ball guide for 1895, edited by Walter Camp. Besides the rules, general information about the game and statistics, it contains a large number of excellent portraits of prominent players and captains of many eleven.

A very cool performance was wit-
counter as though they were hers.
standers recognized the thief and she is
there so long, and the owner returned,
